

Team Defence Information Canada Partnership with the Western Canadian Defense Industries Association

Team Defence Information Canada (TD-Info Canada) and the Western Canadian Defense Industries Association (WCDIA), are very pleased to announce our new strategic partnership.

Team Defence Information Canada (TD-Info Canada) is a neutral, independent, not-for-profit collaboration network that brings together DND/CAF, government, industry and academia to connect, collaborate and transform Canada's Defence ecosystem. We accelerate innovation, strengthen interoperability, and build resilient sovereign capability through trusted partnerships, knowledge sharing and digital collaboration.

TD-Info Canada do this by taking a joint enabler/cross cutting Demand Signal from Defence and building a co-chaired (Defence and Industry) collaborative group who help define the problem space, concept or future opportunity so that Defence has clarity in what they need to pursue going forward. This both helps Defence maximize their output while building an informed network of contributors.

WCDIA represents companies, academia, and government partners across British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, and Manitoba, as the unified voice for Western Canada's Defence ecosystem. From cutting-edge technologies and supply chain excellence to workforce development and export opportunities, we are dedicated to fostering growth, collaboration, and competitiveness on national and international stages.

As a not-for-profit association, WCDIA's mission is clear: to strengthen business opportunities, drive economic impact, and enhance Canada's national security by connecting industry with government, primes, and global partners. Whether through advocacy, networking events, educational programs, or strategic initiatives, we empower our members to thrive in a dynamic landscape.

Working together through this partnership, WCDIA and TD-Info Canada will provide Western Canadian companies with greater national visibility, earlier access to opportunities, stronger connections across the Defence community, and a trusted gateway to collaboration throughout the Canadian - and increasingly UK and NATO - Defence ecosystems.
